BOY KILLED IN GAS EXPLOSION

Nephew of Mrs. J. M. Stevens, the Victim of a Horrifying Accident.

SISTER IS FATALLY BURNED

Another Son Received Burns and Injuries of Which he May Die.

John M. Stevens received word this morning of a terrible catastrophe that befell the members of his wife's sister's family in Greentown, Ind., in which one of the number was killed outright in a natural gas explosion and two others seriously, if not fatally injured.

Details of the horrible affair were not recounted to Mr. Stevens who received the first word through a telephone communication. The explosion occurred in the home which was virtually wrecked. Mrs. Emma Willeutt, sister of Mrs. Stevens, was burned and otherwise injured and her ten-year-old son, David, was instantly killed. Another son, Harrison Willeutt, was horribly burned, and may not survive. There are seven children in the family.

Mr. Stevens was deeply grieved over the affair and an added pathetic chapter was the fact that Mrs. Stevens was in Indianapolis today and up until a late hour this afternoon could not be located to be apprised of the dire calamity. Mr. Stevens spent several hours in a fruitless search, but could not leave here, fully expecting every minute to locate his wife, and that she could make some directions about making some disposition of their adopted son while both would hurry to the home of sorrow.

CHARLEY FRAZEE GETS POSTOFFICE

Watson Got Word This Afternoon That Senate Had Confirmed Recommendation.

COMMISSION NOW ON THE WAY

Congressman James E. Watson received word from Washington, D. C., this afternoon that the Senate had confirmed the appointment of Charles A. Frazee to the Rushville postoffice. He will take the place just as soon as his commission arrives from Washington, which will probably be within the next few days.

READ INTERESTING PAPER

At Regular Meeting of Wednesday Evening Club Last Night.

A regular meeting of the Wednesday Evening club was held in the Miller law building yesterday evening. M. R. McDaniel, principal of the high school, read a paper on "Industrial Training as a Preventative of Crime," which was followed with a discussion by all the members. The paper showed a wide knowledge of the subject on the part of the writer.

Horse bets in the United Kingdom are said to amount to over $32,000,000 annually.

FEVER QUARANTINE LIFTED

Board of Health Finds Blue Ridge Conditions Justifying.

Quarantine established at Blue Ridge by the County Board of Health December 19, because of the prevalence of scarlet fever, was raised Saturday morning. Church services were resumed Sunday and Monday the pupils returned to their studies.

The disease is not easily stamped out, but is sufficiently under control to warrant the removal of a general quarantine. The houses confining patients are under surveillance of the Health officers.

RICH AND SPICY WILL BE MINSTREL

Which is to be Given by Local Talent on January 26 For Benefit of City Band.

SEVERAL GOOD SONG NUMBERS

The minstrel to be given for the benefit of the city band on Jan. 26 promises to be something out of the ordinary. Rehearsals are being held regularly every night under the direction of Al G. Robinson (Not Fields) and all of the people who will take part are taking a great interest in the undertaking. Some excellent talent has been secured and the show promises to be the most elaborate affair ever put on the boards by local talent.

Some of the spicy song numbers which will be rendered are, "You Can Look And You Can Listen, But M-U-M Is The Word," by Earl Robertson; "Maudy Lane" by Clifford Jarvis; and "When The Bell in The Light House Rings," a base solo by Clifford Maxey.

JACKSON EXPECTED TO RECEIVE MONEY

Drew Checks For Several Amounts But the Money Expected Did Not Come.

MERCHANTS ARE REIMBURSED

Relatives of Lorenzo Jackson were in the city today and made full amends and gave satisfactory explanations of the financial difficulty Jackson got into in Rushville a few days ago. It is understood that he expected some money from a certain source and was given to understand that he could depend upon it. He made out checks in advance, intending to have the amount deposited in due time, but the money expected did not materialize. Jackson grew disheartened and left, but wrote back giving a full explanation of the transaction. His brother and several of his friends, learning of his embarrassment, gladly came to his rescue at once.

ST. PAUL AND THE LIGHT.

A movement looking toward obtaining electric lights for St. Paul is under way, says the Shelbyville Republican. The plan is to get the power from the I. & C. traction company and light the business houses and place arc lights at each of the prominent streets.

HUSBAND'S LIFE SAVED BY WIFE

THE EVANS BABY

Woman Seizes Blankets and Extinguishes Flames When Man is Seriously Burned.

BY EXPLOSION OF GASOLINE

Owne Bowne, Formerly Resided Here and Was Son of Late Mrs. K. Armstrong.

Owen O. Bowne, who barely escaped a horrible death at his home in Indianapolis yesterday, was formerly a resident of this city and is the son of the late Mrs. K. Armstrong. The Indianapolis Star tells the story as follows:

Owen O. Bowne of 310 West Sixteenth street was severely burned about the face and neck last night when he attempted to hurl an exploded gasoline stove through a window of his home. His presence of mind and the prompt assistance of his wife saved him from burning to death.

In picking up the stove Bowne's clothing became soaked with gasoline and the flames reached him before he had time to throw the stove from him. Instead of running out of doors, as firemen say most persons do when their clothing is afire, Bowne dropped to the floor and shouted to his wife.

Mrs. Bowne rushed from the room, procured two heavy blankets and threw them over her husband. With the blankets she smothered the fire, though not until after it had caused several wounds on Bowne's face and neck. A doctor and the fire department were called. The firemen had little difficulty in extinguishing the fire that had started. The doctor said that Bowne's burns were not likely to result seriously.

CAME NEAR BEING 23 FOR F. J. HALL

Lieutenant Governor Lost Twenty Two Pounds During Recent Illness.

HALL WILL PULL FOR HARMONY

Frank J. Hall of Rushville Lieutenant Governor-elect, came to Indianapolis yesterday says today's Indianapolis Star for the opening of the Legislature and declared that he did not believe there would be serious trouble between the Democrats and Republicans in the Senate. The Lieutenant Governor-elect will be inaugurated next Monday with Thomas R. Marshall, the newly elected Governor. Until that time he will rest as much as possible, as he is just recovering from a two weeks' illness. Much of the time he was confined to his bed.

Mr. Hall said yesterday that he had lost twenty-two pounds in weight as a result of his illness. He was taken ill Christmas day while visiting his brother in Rush county, and has been out but a few days. The Lieutenant Governor-elect was in conference yesterday with Senators Stotsenburg, Kistler and McCullough regarding the organization of the Senate. The minority, it was announced, will seek peace rather than trouble.

OFFICE HOURS OF THE EVANS BABY

NEW OFFICERS HAD TO TREAT

Prosecutor-Elect Says the Child Can be Seen at His Home in New Castle.

RECEPTION HOURS ARE NAMED

Evans Denies the Story and Says it Was a Malicious Political Concoction.

H. H. Evans of New Castle, prosecutor-elect, of whom it was said had adopted a baby temporarily in order to secure the nomination, was here last night. When asked about the story he declared it to be false and said it was only the malicious work of some of his political enemies. Evans says they fought him hard during the primary and election, but now that he was elected he intended to do some fighting himself.

The baby was born ten days before the primary and the only thing ever said about it in his presence, that he could recall, was a friendly remark dropped by a physician who said to him:

"Well, I see you got a Sears Roebuck baby at the psychological moment."

Evans took the story good naturally, saying his only regret was that his family should be dragged into politics. He said his wife was ill and that the story did not set well with her.

The story of the Evans baby has been common rumor about New Castle for some time and was given to the Daily Republican as an absolute fact and was published without any malicious intent. Evans was of the opinion that the story appeared here that it might be recopied in the New Castle papers.

Evans had a signed statement in the New Castle Tribune yesterday and it follows in part:

"There was nothing remarkable that I should be the father of a child, and of course I could not regulate the fact that the baby should be born during the campaign season. The child was born on February 8, 1908, and resides with its mother and me in New Castle, and anyone interested may see him from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. No admission fee charged!

"His name is Herbert Samuel, and although he cries some at nights, he has some characteristics of the average American 'kid' that makes him a household joy. Those interested further may see the birth records in office of Dr. E. K. Westhafer.

"These stories which emanate from a putrid soul and a vicious mind on account of the dark brown taste which was left in the mouths of a few corrupt politicians, do not worry me, so long as they are cast at me alone; and what I do or do not do can easily be traced by my record when I take office, rather than by the imaginary stories of my enemies.

"I have had it said to me that this baby story was a 'huge joke,' and maybe it is to a certain illiterate, hair-brained set who live and grow fat on scandal and molly coddling."

BROTHERHOOD MEETING.

There will be a Brotherhood meeting of the First Presbyterian church in the parlors of the church on next Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A paper will be discussed by A. E. Martin on "Sacred and Profane History." An election of officers will be held.

SING PRAISES TO THE JERSEY

Knights of Columbus Held Regular Meeting and Installation Tues-day Night.

The members of the Knights of Columbus held a regular meeting in their club rooms in West Second street Tuesday evening and installed the new officers for the ensuing year: The officers follow: Homer Collier, G. K.; William Shanahan, deputy G. K.; Thomas Geraghty, F. S.; Edward McKee, R. S.; Thomas S. Cauley, Treasurer; Will Galaska, Warden; Rev. W. J. Cronin, Chaplain; A. H. Schrichte, Advocate; Bernard Maden, Chancellor; Edward Shantz, Inside Guard; Frank Galaska, Outside Guard.

After the meeting a treat in the form of apples, pop corn and cigars was given by the new officers.

MAY NOT RECOVER FROM AN OPERATION

Mrs. N. B. Darnell of Connerville Underwent Serious Surgical Operation Tuesday.

AT THE SEXTON SANITARIUM

Mrs. N. B. Darnell, who underwent a surgical operation Tuesday morning at the Sexton sanitarium in Rushville, may not recover, says the Connerville Examiner.

Mrs. Darnell has been suffering for some time with a fistula of the left side and an incision developed unlooked for complications.

Mrs. Darnell's son, Clement Cunningham, is at his mother's bedside. Word was received here this morning by Mrs. Darnell's foster daughter, Miss Pearl Darnell, that the lady is very low and her recovery is improbable. Mrs. Darnell's home is in East Connerville.

RUSH COUNTY MEN RECEIVED HONORS

At the Meeting of the State Live Stock Breeders' Association Yesterday.

TWO ARE MADE PRESIDENTS

Several Rush county men were in attendance at the meeting of the State Live Stock Breeders' Association in Indianapolis. Quite a number of them returned to this city highly honored as the result of the elections held yesterday. T. A. Coleman, living northeast of this city, was elected president of the Swine Breeders' Association. George W. Thomas of this city was re-elected president of the Indiana Short Horn Breeders' Association. W. H. Horton, living south of this city, was appointed a member of the program committee by the president of the Indiana Chester White Breeders' Association.

These stories which emanate from a putrid soul and a vicious mind on account of the dark brown taste which was left in the mouths of a few corrupt politicians, do not worry me, so long as they are cast at me alone; and what I do or do not do can easily be traced by my record when I take office, rather than by the imaginary stories of my enemies.

"I have had it said to me that this baby story was a 'huge joke,' and maybe it is to a certain illiterate, hair-brained set who live and grow fat on scandal and molly coddling."

ELECTED OFFICERS

The members of the Ladies Sewing Circle of the Catholic church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ed. Kelly in West First street, and elected the following officers: Miss Anna Geraghty, president; Mrs. John Lubbe, secretary, and Mrs. Nellie Williamson, treasurer.

PERSISTENCY IS BOUND TO WIN.
There is no better stimulant for business than persistent advertising. The successful merchant keeps pounding away day in and day out and year in and year out. People have come to be guided in their buying by the manner in which the goods are advertised and these people can be reached in no other way save through the columns of the newspaper. In Rushville and surrounding territory there is no better way to reach the people than through the Daily Republican.
Remember it is the fellow who keeps everlasting at it that wins success.

He Was a Bit Chesty

Strong claims were made by a traveling man last week while in Lytle's drug store regarding a rheumatic remedy called Rheumaline. Upon investigation it was found he sold it but his claims were so at variance with the results of the usual rheumatic cure that special interest was manifested and positive proof presented. It seems too much cannot be said about this remedy in its particular line for it must be understood it does not cure everything. It does cure Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Gout and Kidney, Liver, Bladder, Stomach and Blood troubles caused by Uric Acid, for it attacks the cause, removes it and stops its formation. It contains no injurious drugs or opiates, therefore, it is impossible to hurt the stomach or affect the heart. The liver is the principal organ upon which it works so it acts as a tonic as well as a cure.

After due consideration Mr. Lytle decided to put his reputation and local high standing behind Rheumaline, for he was thoroughly convinced it is the best remedy for its special purpose on the market today.

Lytle's Drug Store is the sole agent in Rushville, and the price of Rheumaline is $1.00 per bottle. Rheumaline capsules, which are part of the treatment, and are to be used for severe pain, cost 50c per box. When constipated, Rheumaline tablets only should be used. They cost 25c. These three may be procured at Lytle's. Get Rheumaline at once. It removes the cause.

CURE IT IN ONE DAY.

Coughs and Colds Disappear Like Magic When Hyomei is Used.

If the thousands of people who suffer from hacking coughs and agonizing colds would arouse themselves sufficiently to follow this advice, they would cease to complain within 24 hours.

Here is the advice, if you take it and you are afterwards sorry that you did, it won't cost you a penny:

Go to F. B. Johnson & Co., the druggists, and purchase from him a Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) outfit. It will only cost you $1.00. Take it home; use it according to directions, and if it does not cure your cough or cold, take it back and they will refund the purchase price.

When you use Hyomei you don't swallow nauseating drugs. You simply breathe in the soothing, pleasant and antiseptic Hyomei air through the little pocket inhaler that comes with each outfit. As this medicated air passes over the inflamed parts, relief comes almost at once, and cure follows.

Mary E. Bennett, Peru, Ind., writes: I cannot speak too much in praise of your Hyomei treatment for catarrh. I have been using your remedy for about two weeks, and I have found more relief in that than anything that I have ever tried.

I have spent dollar after dollar getting medicine of the doctor for a troublesome cough which I had, and have tried all kinds of cough syrups and cough tablets, and Hyomei is the only remedy that reached the spot.

I had given up in despair, but I feel as though I have a new lease on my life."

Hyomei is guaranteed by F. B. Johnson & Co. to cure catarrh, croup, grip, and asthma, and all diseases of the nose and throat.

MEN'S CLOTHES.

Not What They Used to Be in the Days of Elizabeth.

Most men nowadays do not get much pleasure from dress and scarcely notice the changes of fashion in men's clothes. They are vaguely aware that a hat looks odd when its shape is old fashioned, and they accept the hat of the moment because they do not wish to look odd themselves. But this is a merely negative interest. They are also apt to be contemptuous of women's greater interest in the fashions, as if it were a mark of frivolity.

This is an ignorant mistake. Dress is or ought to be an art, and therefore, if only a minor art, it is a more serious matter than any of the games to which many men give so much time and pains. Besides, men have only become indifferent to their clothes in modern times.

In the heroic age of Elizabeth they made themselves as smart as peacocks. Great soldiers and poets then took pains to be in the height of the fashion, and fashions changed with some violence and rapidity. In the eighteenth century, too, which we do not think of as a time of effeminacy and when men were wanting neither in enterprise nor in seriousness, they were as splendid and extravagant in their dress as women.—London Times.

Rheumatism promptly driven from the blood with Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy. Rub-ons never did cure Rheumatism. The blood must be reached—and Dr. Shoop's Remedy is made expressly for the blood. Test it and see! Sold by F. B. Johnson & Co.

HOME COURSE IN MODERN AGRICULTURE

By C. V. Gregory

Of the Agricultural Division of the Iowa State College
Covering the Course of Study Followed by the Iowa State College

WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THE REPUBLICAN
BEGINNING FRIDAY, JAN. 8

In Installments

The Series Covers Eighteen Lessons, one Lesson to Appear each Tuesday and Friday Until Course is Complete

Following are the Subjects Treated:

- | | | |
|-------------------------------------|---|---------------------------------|
| 1 How a seed starts to grow | 7 The selection of seed | 13 How animals grow |
| 2 How plants eat and grow | 8 Corn growing | 14 Some points on stock feeding |
| 3 Preparing the ground | 9 Weeds and how to combat them | 15 Breeding live stock |
| 4 Water in relation to plant growth | 10 Some insect pests | 16 Farm buildings |
| 5 Leguminous crops and rotations | 11 Bacteria, how they affect the farmer | 17 The farm house |
| 6 How plants are propagated | 12 The selection and care of farm machinery | 18 The business side of farming |

The success of scientific farming with its greatly increased yeilds has aroused strong interest among farmers throughout the country. So greatly was Governor Deneen impressed with the importance of the subject when he attended the Illinois Corn Show in Springfield recently that he decided to enter the Agricultural School at the University of Illinois to take up the course, as told in the press dispatches. These articles give you at home what the governor gets in college.

Judge Taft insists that he will not be president elect until after the electors shall have met and formally ratified the November vote.

Mr. Debs' party in the election of 1908 proved to be stationary. At this rate of progress the Debs movement will be forgotten by 1913.

Earthquakes, like some other natural phenomena, make man realize what a puny and helpless being he is when the forces of nature break loose and work havoc. Yet there is a persistency and daring in a man that no destructiveness can deter. No sooner are cities overturned and destroyed or hillsides covered with lava than he begins to rebuild on the same site and renew the cultivation of the soil. San Francisco and the territory around Mt. Pelee are recent cases at point, in a few years the parts of Italy so terribly devastated by the recent earthquake will again be the abode of teeming thousands of industrious people.

What wonderful achievements some people think they would do if they were only someone else. The sensible thing is for every one to do the best he can with what he has, big or little, and not waste his time in idle dreaming about the impossible.

Why not number the farm houses? It can be done! A bill to that effect will be introduced at the coming legislature, not only to number the farm houses, but to name all the roads as well. The bill will make provisions to carry out to the rural districts city plans of named streets and numbered houses. The measure will carry with it an optional provision, so that county commissioners can do as they choose about adopting the provisions of the bill when enacted into law. The measure will provide for the accurate measuring of all roads and the division into tenths of miles. Each house to each tenth will have a number and thus there will be the same accuracy in numbering as is found in a city.

NOTHING WAS DOING HERE

Pete Adams of the Greek Candy Store, Says he is a Nephew of Uncle Sam.

Today was the Greek Christmas, but the celebration of the feast was confined mostly to the larger cities in America. The local Greeks observed the day, as is their custom, so far as practice is concerned, but Pete Adams decided not to close his store—as many of the Greeks in the cities do—saying the American Christmas was his Christmas as he is now a full fledged, loyal and patriotic nephew of Uncle Sam.

Press dispatches from New York contain the following interesting account of the feast:

Indications are that thousands of New York citizens who subscribe to a long-drawn-out contest have added weight to Mr. Marshall's suggestion that the caucus be held early. It is very likely now that the caucus will be held not later than next Thursday night. The pace became hotter than ever today among the candidates and their followers, but apparently there was no change in the situation. Kern took personal charge of his interests. He probably knows more of the members and the party workers here with them than any other candidate. He lost no time pushing his own claims, and his followers are insisting that he is in position to win very early in the fight. J. Oscar Henderson, his first Lieutenant, said that Kern will have to exceed thirty votes on the first ballot, giving the other candidates their own districts. "Kern undoubtedly will win," said Henderson. "We are getting encouraging reports all the time. I don't see how they can defeat him." It was admitted, however, by Henderson and other Kern men that it is not likely that he can win as long as the other candidates hold their forces intact. They do not believe that any of his opponents can hold their forces long. Kern's followers are confident that at least two candidates will drop out of the running after they receive a complimentary vote. It was reported today that National Committeeman Taggart, who has not been here much since the members arrived, has determined to do everything possible for Kern and that he is arranging to get into the fight for him with all of his old-time energy.

Governor-elect Marshall may dig into the senatorial race far enough to urge the members of the legislature to hold their caucus the first of next week. His desire is that the Democrats shall make the caucus nomination as early as possible, so that they may get down to the business of legislating. Mr. Marshall and everyone connected with the political situation realizes that the senatorial contest will prove the absorbing topic with the members until it is disposed of. Nothing else is being discussed here now and it is not believed that the legislature will be able to transact any business until the Democrats determine who shall succeed Senator James A. Hemenway. While Mr. Marshall did not designate a date for the caucus, it was reported that he feels that Tuesday night would be suitable. John W. Kern, L. Ert Slack and John E. Lamont said that Tuesday will suit them. The other candidates, it is understood, have no objection to this date, although the followers of B. F. Shively of South Bend are inclined to believe that the longer the contest is drawn out the better his chances become. It was said also that an early caucus will be to the advantage of Kern, as it will keep his opponents from pulling and hauling at members who are now inclined to be for him. "I have nothing to say about the senatorial race," said Mr. Marshall. "I have no desire to take any part in it, but I would like to see the caucus held as soon as possible for the reason that I would like to see the legislature have an opportunity to get down to business. The senatorial race is an absorbing topic and not much in the way of legislation can be accomplished until it is disposed of."

The Greeks made more of the day than any of the other races. For forty days they had fasted. In that time they had eaten neither the flesh of beast nor fish; they had eaten no eggs, except fish eggs, which as everyone knows, are caviar; and cheese was also abjured. Their dietary staples, thus, were olives, beans, caviar, bread and crackers.

It may be gathered that not a few of the ordinary good livers among the Greeks along Sixth avenue, between Twenty-eighth and Forty-second streets, had begun to "look gauntly" toward this day of feasting as early as two weeks ago. There were some, indeed, sad to tell, who, attracted by the preparations in the restaurants of their countrymen, fell before the good day came. At least so it was told with bated breath today. And, as was also explained, the fact that they were going about among their fellows—utterly disengaged—declaring that they New Yorkers far more than they were Greeks, and as a consequence entitled to eat when and where they please, availed them nothing.

For such as kept the faith there was a joyous high mass at Holy Trinity, the Green Orthodox Church in East Seventy-second street.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

VACANT STORE ROOMS GALORE

Three Unoccupied on the Square in Shelbyville and Another One Nearby.

AND THE REASON IS OBVIOUS

None of the Former "Busted" Occupants Ever Believed in Newspaper Advertising.

No doubt many will say when they read articles in newspapers pertaining to advertising that the argument invariably is presented with a selfish interest in view. But such may not be the case. There may be another motive, and we venture to say that in ninety per cent. of the instances, encouragement of judicious advertising is impelled with a hope for the general prosperity of the city. All lines of business must be good for a newspaper to share in the prosperity. The Shelbyville Liberal today points out four instances where failures followed at Shelbyville recently because the merchants did not advertise. Four vacant rooms stand as mute evidences of an indisputable argument in favor of newspaper advertising. The article follows:

"We do not recall when there were four vacant store rooms in the business center of Shelbyville before.

"We refer to the Jake Klass room, the Horst shoe store, the Miller clothing store room in the Ray Hotel block. Three of these vacant rooms are on the public square and the fourth is adjoining it on the north in Harrison street.

"We hope they will each be occupied soon with live and active business men who will advertise their business and seek to bring business, not let it get away by not advertising.

"Show us a town where the business men all advertise, and we will show you a live, business town with no empty store rooms and no graveyard appearances. But where business men refuse to advertise and are content to 'plug' along with whatever comes their way by chance and personal friends, we will show you empty store rooms and what few business men are left are barely living.

"This year promises to be a good year for business. Everything is in favor of that idea. The merchants of this city ought to do business and can do it, in our judgment, if they will carry the necessary stocks and advertise in the press. The people want selections when they have money to spend and will spend it where the merchant advertises and backs it up with the goods.

"In the case of Miller, the clothing man, who just failed, he never advertised. Jacob Klass, the dry goods man, never advertised. Fred Horst seldom advertised. John Small never advertised. And so it goes that history is simply repeated."

DEMOCRATIC GOVERNOR.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 7.—For the first time in a score of years Nebraska has a Democratic governor. Ashton C. Shallenberger was today inaugurated as chief executive and the event was made the occasion of a wide spread jubilation on the part of the Democrats of Bryan's State.

The legislature, which convened this week, is also Democratic in complexion for the first time in many years. Many radical measures will be taken up, among them a law to guarantee bank deposits, such as was advocated in the national platform of the party. The bill will be similar to that which is now in successful operation in Oklahoma.

Another important plank in the Democratic platform is the pledge to enact a law providing for the physical valuation of public serving corporations. This pledge will have considerable opposition.

County option was an issue in many of the counties at the election and it is claimed that the legislature is opposed to any change in the present liquor laws, although the county option law or the submission of a prohibition amendment, signed by more than 150,000 persons. This petition will be presented to the legislature.

NEWS FOR DYSPEPTICS

Some Condensed Items from All Over America that Show that Dyspepsia Can Be Easily Cured

Whiteland, Ind.

"I was a chronic sufferer from dyspepsia for years; tried several doctors without relief. Began using Mi-o-na tablets, and after several weeks' treatment I found thorough relief, and am able now to eat anything. I recommend Mi-o-na to anyone afflicted with stomach trouble." —Mrs. D. A. Brewer.

Buffalo, N. Y.

"Allow me to congratulate you on your discovery of Mi-o-na. I had several of the best doctors in the city, but none seemed to do me any good. I vomited frequently. I had this trouble four years. I took one box of Mi-o-na tablets, and now eat most anything without distress." —Mrs. Mary Becker, 1990 Baily Ave. Bridgeton, N. J.

"I would be dead if it wasn't for Mi-o-na. One year ago I weighed only 100 pounds; now my weight is 159 pounds. I eat everything I want—cabbage, ham, fried potatoes—every thing doctor said not to eat or I would die." —Mrs. Carrie Vanaman. Mountain Island, N. C.

"I suffered with stomach trouble for 15 years; spent $300 for medicines, everything failed to do any good until I found Mi-o-na. That has cured me, and it will cure others that suffer." —L. R. Nonket.

F. B. Johnson & Co. sells Mi-o-na tablets, the dyspepsia remedy that is making such surprising cures throughout America for 50 cents a box, and he guarantees them to cure acute and chronic indigestion, vomiting from any cause, and sea or ear sickness.

Makes Correction

The report in Tuesday's Republican can that I came near being shot was a mistake in names. It was George Washington Westerfield instead of Byron Westerfield. I am one of those good boys that have no need of a revolver, dog, cat, tobacco, or any kind of shooting tool. This Mr. Westerfield is a brother of Commodore Westerfield who came so near loosing his life two years ago capturing an alligator, south of Manilla, in Mud Creek.

The Younger Set

By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS,
Author of "The Fighting Chance," Etc.

Copyright, 1907, by Robert W. Chambers

As he turned, still smiling and self possessed, Eileen whispered rapidly: "Don't go. I care for you too much to ask it."

He said under his breath, "Dearest, you cannot understand."

"Yes, I do! Don't go. Philip, don't go near her."

"I must."

"If you do—if you go—how can you care for me as you say you do—when I ask you not to—when I cannot endure it?"

She turned swiftly and stared across at Alixe, and Alixe, unsteady in the flushed brilliancy of her youthful beauty, half rose in her seat and stared back.

Instinctively the young girl's hand tightened on Selwyn's arm. "She—she is beautiful," she faltered, but he turned and led her from the table, following Austin, his sister and Lansing, and she clung to him almost convulsively when he halted on the edge of the lawn.

"I must go back," he whispered; "dearest, dearest, I must."

"To Gerald or her?"

But he only muttered: "They don't know what they're doing. Let me go, Eileen"—gently detaching her fingers, which left her hands lying in both of his.

She said, looking up at him: "If you go—if you go—whatever time you return—no matter what hour—knock at my door. Do you promise? I shall be awake. Do you promise?"

"Yes," he said, with a trace of impatience, the only hint of his anger at the prospect of the duty before him.

So she went away with Nina and Austin and Boots, and Selwyn turned back, sauntering quietly toward the table where already the occupants had apparently forgotten him and the episode in the riotous gayety increasing with the accession of half a dozen more men.

When Selwyn approached, Neergard saw him first, stared at him and snickered, but he greeted everybody with smiling composure, nodding to those he knew, a trifle more formally to Mrs. Ruthven, and, coolly pulling up a chair, seated himself beside Gerald.

"Boots has driven home with the others," he said in a low voice. "I'm going back in the motor boat with you. Don't worry about Austin. Are you ready?"

The boy had evidently let the wine alone or else fight had sobered him. For he looked terribly white and tired. "Yes," he said, "I'll go when you wish. I suppose they'll never forgive me for this. Come on."

"One moment, then," nodded Selwyn. "I want to speak to Mrs. Ruthven." And, quietly turning to Alixe and dropping his voice to a tone too low for Neergard to hear, for he was plainly attempting to listen:

"You are making a mistake. Do you understand? Whoever is your hostess, wherever you are staying, find her and go there before it is too late."

She inclined her pretty head thoughtfully, eyes on the wineglass which she was turning round and round between her slender fingers. "What do you mean by 'too late?'" she asked. "Don't you know that everything is too late for me now?"

"What do you mean, Alixe?" he returned, watching her intently.

"What I say. I have not seen Jack Ruthven for two months. Do you know what that means? I have not heard from him for two months. Do you know what that means? No? Well, I'll tell you, Philip. It means that when I do hear from him it will be through his attorneys."

He turned slightly paler. "Why?" "Divorce," she said, with a reckless little laugh, "and the end of things for me."

"On what grounds?" he demanded sullenly. "Does he threaten you?"

She made no movement or reply, reclining there, one hand on her wineglass, the smile still curving her lips. And he repeated his question in a low, distinct voice, too low for Neergard to hear, and he was still listening.

"Grounds? Oh, he thinks I've misbehaved with—never mind who. It is not true, but he cares nothing about

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical salve and an internal medicine. The latter—Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, tissue, and all blood ailments.

The restorative, as its name implies, does its work while you sleep, soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

F. B. JOHNSTON & CO.

"You owe me a little money," observed Selwyn, with a carefree smile, "and you're a lifetime to pay it in. What is the trouble now? Do you need more? I haven't an awful lot, old fellow, worse luck, but what I have is at your call, as you know perfectly well. Is that all that is worrying you?"

"No, not all. I—Neergard has lent me money—done things—placed me under obligations. I liked him, you know. I trusted him. People he desired to know I made him known to. He was—a trifling peremptory at times, as though my obligations to him left me no choice but to take him to such people as he desired to meet. We—we had trouble recently."

"Delighted to have you come aboard, Captain Selwyn. Is that what you are asking permission to do?"

"Thanks," he returned dryly, and to Alixe, "If you are ready, Gerald and I will take you over to the Nibrara in the motor boat."

"Oh, no, you won't!" broke in Neergard, with a sneer. "You'll mind your own business, my intrusive friend, and I'll take care of my guests without your assistance."

Selwyn appeared not to hear him. "Come on, Gerald," he said pleasantly; "Mrs. Ruthven is going over to the Nibrara."

"For God's sake," whispered Gerald, white as a sheet, "don't force me into trouble with Neergard."

Selwyn turned on him an astonished gaze. "Are you afraid of that whelp?"

"Yes," muttered the boy. "I—I'll explain later, but don't force things now. I beg you."

Mrs. Ruthven coolly leaned over and spoke to Gerald in a low voice; then to Selwyn she said, with a smile: "Rosamund and I are going to Brookminster anyway, so you and Gerald need not wait. And thank you for coming over. It was rather nice of you!"—she glanced insolently at Neergard—"considering the crowd we're with. Good night, Captain Selwyn. Good night, Gerald. So very jolly to have seen you again!" And under her breath to Selwyn: "You need not worry. I am going in a moment. Goodby, and—thank you, Phil. It is good to see somebody of one's own caste again."

A few moments later Selwyn and Gerald in their oilskins were dashing eastward along the coast in the swiftest motor boat south of the Narrows. The boy seemed deathly tired as they crossed the dim lawn at Silver-side. Once on the veranda steps he stumbled, and Selwyn's arm sostained him, but the older man forbore to question him, and Gerald, tight lipped and haggard, offered no confidence until at the door of his bedroom he turned and laid an unsteady hand on Selwyn's shoulder and said: "I am in a very bad fix. I want to talk with you tomorrow. May I?"

"You know you may, Gerald. I am always ready to stand your friend."

At the end of the corridor Selwyn halted before Eileen's room. A light came through the transom. He waited a moment, then knocked very softly.

"Is it you?" she asked in a low voice.

"Yes. I didn't wake you, did I?"

"No. Is Gerald here?"

"Yes; in his own room. Did you wish to speak to me about anything?"

"Yes."

He heard her coming to the door. It opened a very little. "Good night," she whispered, stretching toward him her hand. "That was all I wanted—to touch you before I closed my eyes tonight."

He bent and looked at the hand lying within his own—the little hand with its fresh, fragrant palm upturned and the white fingers relaxed, drooping inward above it at the delicate bluish vein in the smooth wrist.

Then he released the hand, untouched by his lips, and she withdrew it and closed the door, and he heard her laugh softly and lean against it, whispering:

"Now that I am safely locked in I merely wish to say that in the old days a lady's hand was sometimes kissed. Oh, but you are too late, my poor friend! I can't come out, and I wouldn't if I could—not after what I dared to say to you."

And, too low for him to hear even the faintest breathing whisper of her voice: "Good night. I love you with all my heart, with all my heart, in my own fashion."

He had been asleep an hour, perhaps more, when something awakened him and he found himself sitting bolt upright in bed, dawn already whitening his windows.

Somebody was knocking. He swung out of bed, stepped into his bath slippers and, passing swiftly to the door, opened it. Gerald stood there, fully dressed.

"I'm going to town on the early train," began the boy. "I thought I'd tell you."

The dawn was no paler than the boy's face, no more desolate. Trouble was his, the same old trouble that has dogged the trail of folly since time began, and Selwyn knew it and waited.

At last the boy broke out: "This is a cowardly trick, this slinking in to you with all my troubles after what you've done for me, after the rotten way I've treated you. Philip, I can't tell you; I simply cannot. It's so contemptible, and you warned me, and I owe you al-ready so much!"

LEGISLATURE IN SESSION TODAY

In the Midst of Familiar Settings Assembly Convenes.

TOM HONAN ELECTED SPEAKER

In Accepting the Gavel New Presiding Officer of the House Gave the Representatives the Assurance That His Rulings Would Be Devoid of Partiality—Will Wood and Frank Kistler Party Leaders in the Senate, King of Wabash Minority Leader in the House—Today's Session Very Brief.

Indianapolis, Jan. 7.—In the midst of familiar settings and with old-time political stagecraft, the regular bi-annual session of the Indiana legislature was convened here today. Fred A. Sims, secretary of state, called the house to order, presiding until it was organized.

Lieutenant Governor Miller presided in the senate and will hold down the job until Monday, when Lieutenant Governor Hall will be inaugurated.

There was an immense crowd at the state house to witness the doings. The house had the most visitors, as usual. Many Democrats were on hand there, as it was the first time in many years that they had a majority at the start.

After the members of the house were sworn in, Representative Honan, Democratic leader, was elected speaker. Representative Fred King of Wabash received the complimentary vote of the Republicans. Speaker Honan was received with enthusiasm. He made a brief speech thanking the members for the honor bestowed and assuring them that he will be impartial in his rulings. The house and senate adjourned shortly before 12 o'clock.

Officers of the Legislature.

The house and senate caucuses last night resulted as follows: Democratic house caucus: Speaker, Representative Honan; principal clerk, Dr. Vizard, Decatur; assistant clerk, William Habermel, Corydon; principal doorkeeper, ex-Representative Barclay of Franklin county. Representative Sweeney of Perry county called the caucus to order. Representative Strickland of Greenfield presided. No caucus chairman was selected.

The nominees of the Democratic senate caucus were: President pro tem, Senator Kistler, Logansport; joint caucus chairman, Senator Stotsenburg, New Albany; principal secretary, S. A. Badger, Jeffersonville; assistant secretary Frank Dunton, Lagrange; principal doorkeeper, D. A. Daggerly, Crawford county; senate caucus chairman, Senator McCullough, Anderson. Senator Bingham presided during the caucus. Senator Royce of Terre Haute was secretary.

Republican senate caucus: President pro tem, Senator Will R. Wood, Lafayette; principal secretary, William Hoffman, Anderson; assistant secretary, Harry Styner, Lafayette; principal doorkeeper, J. N. Thornburg, Evansville; senate caucus chairman, Senator Springer, Elizabethtown.

Republican house caucus: Speaker, Representative King, Wabash; caucus chairman, Representative Furnas, Winchester; principal clerk, Frank Goodwin, West Lebanon; principal doorman, Charles Wintrode, Huntington.

The Democratic slate won in the house and the Republican slate in the senate.

It is very likely that the Democratic members will hold their senatorial caucus early next week, so that the legislature can get down to routine business. No bills will be considered seriously until after the senator is elected.

Jury Has the Erb Case.

Media, Pa., Jan. 7.—The case of Mrs. M. Florence Erb and her sister, Mrs. Catharine Biesel, separately and jointly charged with the murder of Captain J. Clayton Erb, the well-known Philadelphia politician, at his country home near here on Oct. 6, is now with the jury.

Zero weather in the west and southwest, where the fall-sown crop is to a large extent unprotected by snow, had a bullish effect on the Chicago wheat market.

THE SLEEPING SICKNESS WHICH MEANS DEATH

How many readers have heard of the terrible disease? It prevails in that far-away country—Africa—especially the Congo district. It is caused by the bite of the tsetse fly. When it bites a person, the sleeping symptoms begin and finally the sufferer sleeps until death occurs.

Contrast this with the peaceful, balmy sleep of health. Is there anything more wearisome than to lie awake at night, tossing about, nervous, with cold feet, hot head and mercy knows what else? Short of letting the tsetse fly bite us we would do almost anything for relief. How can we prevent it? Mr. George Hayes, of Union City, Pa., writes: "I had lost my appetite, was all run-down, could not sleep nights. I had tried everything without relief. Vinol was recommended, and to my surprise, it helped me at once; gave me a splendid appetite, and now I sleep soundly."

What Vinol did for Mr. Hayes, it will do for every run-down, nervous and overworked person who cannot sleep.

Vinol is sold in Rushville by F. B. Johnson & Co.

MURDERED IN RURAL CHURCH

Shocking Death of a Michigan Methodist Minister.

NO CLUE TO SAVAGE CRIME

The Rev. John Carmichael, Pastor of a Country Church Near Columbus, Mich., Was Cruelly Murdered and His Body Dismembered and Partially Consumed in Stoves of the Way-side Church—That He Had Made a Desperate Struggle for Life Was Evidenced by Condition of Things Within the Church.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 7.—The dismembered body of Rev. John J. Carmichael, a Methodist minister, was found partly consumed by fire in the two heating stoves of one of his three churches near Columbus, in the southwestern part of St. Clair county. There are no clues of the murderer and his motive.

There is a rumor that a strange man had left a train at Hickey late Tuesday afternoon and had been directed to the Columbus church, and there are other rumors indicating that two men were implicated in the crime. The fact that several coins were found in the clothing of the dead man and in the ashes in the stoves precluded the theory of robbery, and at the time of his death it was not known that the murdered minister had an enemy in the world.

Rev. Carmichael had been in Michigan about ten years and for two years had been pastor of the three churches at Columbus, Adair and China. With his wife and three children he resided at Adair. Leaving home Tuesday morning he told Mrs. Carmichael that he was going to Columbus to arrange for a series of revival meetings there.

Myron Brown, who lives near the scene of the tragedy, was the first to discover the crime. While he was waiting at the cross-roads to keep an appointment the cold wind drove him to seek shelter in the church. He was surprised to find the church doors unlocked, and upon opening them was terrified to see the church floor, the pews and even the communion table daubed with blood and fragments of bloody clothing scattered all around. Evidently the clergyman, who was fifty-six years old and of athletic build, had made a terrific struggle for his life. Brown notified the sheriff's office at Port Huron.

The authorities on their arrival at the church found parts of the dismembered body in the two stoves, located respectively at the front and rear, and discovered in the one stove the head of what was apparently a new hatchet, the handle of which had been burned off. A dirk was also found in the church, and it is believed that the dirk served for the murderer while the hatchet was used to cut the body to pieces. The minister's horse was found later tied to a tree in the village of Pine River, the dead preacher's overcoat being discovered in the buggy. Pine River is a small village near Thornton on the main line of the Grand Trunk railroad and fully twenty miles from the scene of the murder.

CARR PUTS SOMEONE IN ANNIA'S CLUB

Statement Made That he Was Interested in Clover Seed Deal, Was False.

ONLY DROPPED A WORD OR TWO

Milton Carr was here today. Milt had a grievance. He says he was grossly misrepresented by some one in a clover seed transaction reported a few days ago. At that time it was said Carr vouches and swore that a farmer named Stacey was O. K. Stacey obtained forty dollars on some seed he never possessed, from Ball & Ball, the elevator men. They called him to account last week and the matter was settled in court.

Carr says he did not swear that Stacey was alright, but did say when Stacey appealed to him at the elevator that he did not think he would say he had clover seed for sale when he did not. The reports that Carr was in anywise interested with Stacey was erroneous. He further stated that he never makes a practice of going anyone's security in any shape or form.

“RUSHVILLE BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION.”

BY THE WAYSIDE

That it is a mistake to advertise was demonstrated in the past year's history of the Anderson Fair association. During previous years this association was prosperous and its meetings were well attended, the result of liberal and judicious advertising.

Last year the directors decided that they would save their advertising expenses and attempted to run the fair without spending a cent in advertising. The result was disastrous, and the association went so far into the hole financially that it passed into the hands of a receiver. The property was sold Saturday.

CATS AS SPECIAL JUDGE

In Fayette County Circuit Court in Replevin Suit.

Ex-judge Douglas Morris of Rushville yesterday afternoon occupied the bench in the circuit court as special judge in the case of David Andre against John G. Murray and others, says the Connorsville Examiner. The action is brought to replevin a certain portion of the bankrupt drug stock, one of the points involved being an alleged breach of contract.

About Small Pox

The following letter is being sent out to the farmers by the business men of Rushville:

It is only fair to the business men of Rushville and the farmers of Rush county and vicinity alike that a clear, comprehensive and truthful statement be made regarding the smallpox situation in this city. All sorts of stories have been rife and in the main most of them were without the slightest foundation. As is always the case, exaggerated and alarming stories were recounted until some of the people usually trading in Rushville actually feared coming to the city to do their trading, and thus suffered an inconvenience in many instances. Most of the scare came from the Board of Health placing a ban on public meetings and gatherings, but this was only done as a matter of extreme precaution. It was lifted at a time when there was no longer any fear of the disease spreading.

For the mutual benefit of all concerned, it is well to know that business is back in the same old groove, running smoothly and activity again rules the day. There is no cause for alarm, neither is there any further danger of the contagion spreading, as all the cases came from one source, a strict quarantine was established and thus the number of victims kept at a minimum.

To dissipate the erroneous impression held, a statement is made by the local Board of Health, giving a detailed account of the epidemic and the present state of affairs, which we enclose with this letter. Nothing is said that would be misleading in the least, neither would the merchants betray the confidence of their patrons by misrepresentations.

“RUSHVILLE BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION.”

SCHOOL NOTES

The Graham, Jackson and Havens schools will open Monday at the usual hour. The Washington school will not open until further notice.

The Indiana State Oratorical contest will be held at Crawfordsville, May 14. Our high school will send a representative as this school is one of the schools in the Association. Rushville is secretary of the Association this year. Let there be a goodly number of aspirants for the honor of representing the school as this work is very helpful to the contestants and is well worth the effort to enter the preliminary contest.

February 12, 1909 is the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. In honor of this occasion the schools throughout the United States will appropriately celebrate the day. The State Department of Public Instruction and many patriotic societies in the country have formulated suggestive programs for the celebration of the day. The underlying purpose of these programs is to inspire the people with an idea of the greatness and magnanimity of our martyred president.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

WEARING GIRL'S HOSE

(Shelbyville News.)

While the thirty show girls were in the fire department room in the city building changing attire for the performance of the "Royal Chef," Monday evening, some young men boldly raised a window in the room, and, the girls asserted to the police, tried to gain entrance. They were frightened away, however, but their departure meant the loss of several pairs of red hose. Tuesday evening a number of young men were wearing the hose and boasting of the manner in which they were procured. In the top of each hose, secured by a string, was a dime.
